

Letter from Joseph H. Adams to Alexander Graham Bell, February 2, 1875

(copy) Washington, D. C., Feb. 2d, 1875. Prof. Bell, Dear Sir,

I hoped to see you before I left Boston to learn if you had any further use for my services in the matter that formed the subject of your caveat.

I presume from my not seeing you in so long a time that you have not, but should like to know from you if I am free to act in the interest of other parties in matters involving the same subject.

Please inform me by return mail and address me in care of B. F. James Esq., box 747 —

Very truly yours (signed) Jos. H. Adams. 11 Pemberton Square, Boston, Feb. 4th, 1875.
We certify that the foregoing letter is a correct copy of the original. Sarah Fuller. Kate D. Williams.
